

Chalet Sonnenhof

Wengen, Bernese Oberland, Switzerland, 1274m
33 beds, from CHF 45.00

The Sonnenhof is located in the beautifully situated Wengen (car-free and therefore only accessible by train), a village belonging to the municipality of Lauterbrunnen in the Bernese Oberland at the foot of the Jungfrau. The property includes two houses with accommodation, spacious grounds and a small wooded area with its own garden. Wengen is located in the Bernese Oberland in Switzerland - and is part of the municipality of Lauterbrunnen. The village lies at 1274 metres above sea level, high above the Lauterbrunnen Valley, at the foot of the Eiger, Mönch and Jungfrau mountains. It is part of the Jungfrau Region tourism association, which also includes the Swiss Alps Jungfrau-Aletsch UNESCO World Heritage Site. Wengen has been accessible from Lauterbrunnen on the Wengernalp railway since 1893. The village itself has no connection to the road network and therefore has little traffic. Wengen is the "Village of the Jungfrau" and the venue for the international Lauberhorn race (FIS Ski World Cup).
